Changi Airport celebrates new A380 connection to Germany

SINGAPORE, 28 October 2011 – In celebration of Lufthansa's inaugural A380 service from Singapore, visitors can immerse in uniquely German fun and festivities at Changi Airport over the next two weeks. From 31 October 2011, Lufthansa will operate a daily A380 service between Singapore and Frankfurt, joining Singapore Airlines and Qantas in making Changi the world's busiest multi-carrier A380 hub. To mark this milestone, and to promote Changi Airport's air links to the various exciting German cities, Changi Airport is organising a lively festival in true German style – complete with fun-filled games, beer, music and delightful treats.

Eat, drink and be merry

Running from 29 October to 13 November 2011, the 'Germanfest' will be held at Changi Airport Terminal 3, Basement 2. At the fair, visitors can try their hands at traditional German games such as "Slide the Beer" and "Pretzel Throw Challenge". On site, a spectacular eight-foot giant beer mug filled with many smaller mugs will be on display. One lucky participant with the correct guess of the number of mugs in the giant beer mug will walk away with $1,000 in Changi Dollar vouchers![\[1\]](#)

On weekends and public holidays, visitors can get a feel of the lively spirit at German parties through entertaining cultural dance and music performances. Children interested to experience more of German culture can sign up for interesting workshops to learn how to make pretzels and German hats. And like a true German party, the 'Germanfest' will not be complete without some hearty German food. On weekends, visitors can enjoy a glass of beer or apple spritzer and German pastries[\[2\]](#).

These participants and their partners will compete against each other in a thrilling race against time, in which they will be required to complete a series of fun and intriguing challenges that will put their knowledge, thinking skills and speed to test. The winning team will win a pair of Business Class return tickets to Europe (via Frankfurt) on board Lufthansa's new A380.
